

Taking care of skills

Adult Care and Child Care together form the second largest sector in the country, with a total of 1.62 million jobs in Adult Care alone. Research shows that a better trained workforce leads to better outcomes for children and individuals accessing care services.

The Care sector is also set to be the fastest growing sector to 2024, with our projections showing an expected increase of more than 223,000 jobs.*

Our end-point assessment (EPA) and on-programme offer provides an end-to-end solution for the Health sector. Geraldine Donworth, Industry Manager for Adult Care, Health and Child Care said:

"City & Guilds has consistently provided support for a wide range of employer groups during the development of the apprenticeships in these areas from some of the very first standards to those currently being produced."

Trusted across public and private sectors

We recently worked with the Welsh Joint Education Committee (WJEC), Health Education Improvement Wales and Social Care Wales to be the sole providers for a suite of health and social care, and childcare qualifications contracted by Qualifications Wales across qualifications from Levels 1 to 5 for health and social care, and childcare.

We have deep industry connections – our Industry Manager, Geraldine Donworth is Vice-Chairperson for the AELP Health and Social Care and Childcare forum, demonstrating our standing in the sector.
